

Consistency or Availability

- Consistency and Availability is not “binary” decision
- AP systems relax consistency in favor of availability – but are not inconsistent
- CP systems sacrifice availability for consistency- but are not unavailable
- This suggests both AP and CP systems can offer a degree of consistency, and availability, as well as partition tolerance

